Dan Hill grew up listening to Sinatra, Count Basie, Fitzgerald and Sarah Vaughan. Crediting Sinatra for style, he started writing at 14, was signed by 19 and had the smash hit, “Sometimes When We Touch,” one of the most covered pop songs of all time, under his belt by 23!

Through his remarkable career his songs have been made famous by artists like Céline Dion (Seduces Me), the Backstreet Boys (I Promise You), Alan Jackson and many more. Don’t miss the incredible experience of hearing this award-winning, legendary songwriter share his music in the way it was first meant to be heard.

“Legendary! Hill won the crowd over on his guitar with a raw, untampered version.”
